Third Annual White Fair

The second week of the Annual White Fair will open up Monday, with victory not any more a matter of anticipation—but an assured fact. We are quite frank to confess that much depended upon the signal success of this-the first great business event of the year-and that it pleased us immensely to have a careful, conscientious, unbiassed comparison of ALL the similar sales now clamoring for public attention verify in a most emphatic manner the worth and merit of our own White Fair. No doubt you, too, have made some comparisons, but WE have made them in a systematic manner, including all the pretentious as well as the unpretentious stores, and in every case, without a single exception. The Big Store's offerings were good as or better than anything obtainable at present anywhere in New York.

We begin the second week with another "Telling" Price demonstration—prices so phenomenally low that were they quoted in any store with a less firmly established reputation for "standard quality," people would suspect the goods to be "not of the first flight."

Take at random any one of these items, and you will find that, as a combination of high excellence of quality and a low price, it is not equalled at present in this market.

A Double Event in the Silk and Dress Goods Departments Choicest Canned Goods,

It is said that "an honest confession is good for the soul." We think it is also good for the silk and dress goods business, and freely acknowledge that both of the above stocks have for some time been the weak members of the store family. STRING BEANS, PEARS, APRICOTS, &c., &c., enters its second and final week to-morrow. the above stocks have for some time been the weak members of the store family. Having carefully watched cause and effect, we have decided to make a change in the management of both departments, not in any way as a reflection upon the past, but with good hopes for the future. The new men have taken hold, and are beginning to turn things upside down in a lively fashion. Their first thought natbeginning to turn things upside down in a lively fashion. Their first thought nat-urally is to dispose quickly of the stocks on hand. Each man nowadays desires to work out his own salvation in his own individual way, and so do these two gentlemen. We shall not hinder them. The first crop of bargains resulting from the rather indiscriminate price cutting that is to be the programme for some time will be placed before you to-morrow. Here it is. Read it, study it, compare it with anything in New York. If equal value exists anywhere, then we do not know what a bargain is.
